NEW YORK "KNICKERBOCKER" FAMILIES; ORIGIN AND SETTLEMENT

Though Verrezzani in 1524 probably entered the lower bay, Henry Hudson, Captain in the employ of the Dutch East India Company, in September 1609, guided the first ship, the Half Moon, past Manhattan, and up the Hudson River nearly to Albany. The Company began a trading post, called Mannahatta (Manhattan) in 1614; and in 1615 another at Fort Orange (now Albany). In 1624, the Dutch West India Company made a permanent settlement on Manhattan; it sent Peter Minuits as Governor, who arrived in 1625 with a company who settled Breukelen (Brooklyn).

(Henry Hudson's chief boatswain was Dick Gerritse)

In 1629, the West India Company inaugurated a system of settlement by what are now called manors, somewhat like the plantation system of Virginia, with Wouter Van Twiller as agent, to buy tracts from the natives, and then to grant to the leaders of colonies, who were called patroons, each a manor with 16 miles front on the rivers, and extending back as far as needed. Minuits was recalled in 1633, and led a Swedish colony to Delaware in 1638; Van Twiller governed till 1638, Wm. Kieft from 1638 till 1647, and Peter Stuyvesant from 1647 to 1664, when the Dutch surrendered their claims to the Duke of York.

The Dutch settlements were mostly confined to the Hudson Valley below Troy, and western Long Island, with a few in northeastern New Jersey, for the early immigration was not nearly as large nor as widely distributed as that to Massachusetts, though drawn from the whole south coast of the North Sea. The settlers belonged mostly to the Dutch Reform Church, Presbyterian in organization, but there was a general toleration of religious beliefs.

Gerret Cornellisen Van Duyn (Dine, Dyne, Dien, Tine), from Neukerck, Zeeland, Netherlands, with his brother-in-law, Jacques Corteljau, was originally from Duin or Dun, a hamlet in North Brabant. He was the common ancestor of the Garrisons in America. The regular mode of forming family names in the Low Countries or Netherlands (Holland and Belgium), as in Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Iceland was patronymic; that is, the Christian-name of the father was the basis of the last name of the son. However, this mode resulted in many duplicate names, so there grew into use, as a temporary expedient for distinguishing between duplicate names, the affixing of the native place of each; with the preposition of location, usually Van = of; occasionally Te, Ten, Ter = at the.

The Immigration and Passenger lists, which have been published, contain the most substantial information as to the home places of the Dutch immigrants. This is so to some extent, but, on the other hand the name of the Dutch emigrants on these passenger lists do not conform with the names of their families a generation or two later, except in a comparatively few cases. The patronymic for a surname was used in most cases, the actual family name being adopted not earlier, as a rule, than the second or third generation in this country. Then they would usually adopt the name of the original home place or estate of the family, rather than the place in which they lived immediately preceding their departure to America.

Not all of these original settlers who may be considered Dutch were actually Dutch. As we know, many (the Walloons) came from France, having settled temporarily in Holland before they came to America. It is found that a great many of these, who were assumed to be Dutch, actually came from what are now sections of Germany. The latter were principally the independent Duchies or Principalities of Oldenburg, Hanover, Rhine Province, Westphalia and Schleswig-Holstein. All of these were independent governments at the time of the Dutch emigration to America. This does not mean the emigrants from these places were not originally Dutch; as in the 16th Century, many of the Dutch fled to these provinces during the Spanish persecutions. It is also true that in the second half of the 17th Century people from the Palatinate and the Rhine Province fled into the Netherlands to escape the French religious persecutions. Therefore, in many cases, the actual place of residence, at any particular time, could not positively determine the actual nationality of the family.

The derivation of the name Garrison is uncertain, perhaps from the Dutch: Gerritsen, Garretson, or perhaps from the French, as the name is common in the south of France, Garrisson, where the meaning "little oak" is assigned to it. The only known English family of the name considered itself of Dutch origin, and this is true of many American Garrisons. The original description of the Garrison Coat- of-Arms (Shield) is as follows: "D'Or A Une Chene De Sin., Englante D'Arg". When translated the blazon also described the original colours of the Garrison arms as: "Gold; a Green Oak Tree, Silver Acorns."

Gerret Cornellisen Van Duyn is listed on the Passenger lists as making several trips to and from the Netherlands to the New Netherlands (New York) after 1620. He may have been a ship's carpenter for the Dutch East India Company. Dutch Reform Church records have him born in Holland in 1600 and dying in New York in 1699.

William Dominick Garrison of Garrison, New York, born there on September 10, 1838, was the son of John Garrison, born December 20, 1795 in Garrison, New York (died there November 3, 1869. John was the son of Harry Garrison of Garrison, N.Y., born on Staten Island, N.Y. on March 03, 1765 (died at Garrison, N.Y. on August 06, 1845). Harry was the son of Johannes Garrison of Staten Island, N.Y., born there 1720, died there 1813, a farmer who spoke the Dutch language, had three slaves, changed his name from Gerritsen to Garrison. Johannes was the son of Gerrit of Staten Island, N.Y. who was born at Bergen, New Jersey, in 1675 and died at Staten Island in 1765, a blacksmith, had 11 children, of whom seven were married sons. Gerrit Garrison (1675-1765) was the son of Gerrit Gerritsen (se, sze) who was born at Wageningen, Netherlands. He came to America in 1659/1660 at about 25 years of age and was married to Anna Hermansse and had nine sons. He died on Staten Island in 1725.

William Lloyd Garrison (1805 - 1879) was editor of "The Liberator" at Boston, Mass.. He was the son of Abijah Garrison (1773 - d. after 1814), a sea captain from New Brunswick, Canada. Abijah was the son of Joseph Garrison (1734 - 1783) a farmer, and perhaps an Englishman.

Note: Gerrit Cornelissen Van Duyn - is first listed to New Netherlands in 1620. Dutch Reform Church records in New York have him born in Holland in 1600. Died in New York in 1699. Apparently, he was a <sup>ship</sup>carpenter for the Dutch East (or West) India Company and made several trips to New York. He was the common ancestor of the Garrison family in N. America.

Perhaps from the Dutch, Gerritsen, Garretson, perhaps from the French, as the name is common in the south of France, Garri-son, Garrison, where the meaning "little oak" is assigned to it. The only known English family of the name considered itself of Dutch origin, and this is true of many American Garrisons.

NEW YORK "KNICKERBOCKER" FAMILIES;
ORIGIN AND SETTLEMENT.

BY JOEL N. ENO, A. M.

Though Verrezzani in 1524 probably entered the lower bay, Henry Hudson, captain in the employ of the Dutch East India Company, in Sept., 1609, guided the first ship, the Half Moon, past Manhattan, and up the Hudson river nearly to Albany. The company began a trading post, called Mannahatta (Manhattan) in 1614; and in 1615 another at Fort Orange (now Albany). In 1624, the Dutch West India Company made a permanent settlement on Manhattan; it sent Peter Minuits as governor, who arrived 1625 with a company who settled Breukelen (Brooklyn). In 1629, the West India Company inaugurated a system of settlement by what are now called manors, somewhat like the plantation system of Virginia, with Wouter Van Twiller as agent, to buy tracts from the Indians, and then to grant to the leaders of colonies, who were called patroons, each a manor with 16 miles front on the rivers, and extending back as far as needed. Minuits was recalled in 1633, and led a Swedish colony to Delaware in 1638; Van Twiller governed till 1638, Wm. Kieft from 1638 till 1647, and Peter Stuyvesant from 1647 till 1664, when the Dutch surrendered their claims to the Duke of York. Col. Nichols governed till 1667; Lovelace, from 1667 till 1674, succeeded in Oct., 1674, by Sir Edmund Andros; he by Col. Thomas Dongan, 1683; he in 1688 by Francis Nicholson, who in 1689 was imprisoned by Jacob Leisler till March, 1691, when Col. Sloughter, the new royal governor, arrived; Fletcher succeeded in 1692; the Earl of Bellamont in 1698, and so on, a succession of royal governors till the Revolution. The Dutch settlements were mostly confined to the Hudson valley below Troy, and western Long Island, with a few in northeastern New Jersey, for the early immigration was not nearly as large nor as widely distributed as that to Massachusetts, though drawn from the whole south coast of the North Sea. The settlers belonged mainly to the Dutch Reformed church, Presbyterian in organization, but there was general toleration of religious beliefs.

Barheit, Jeronimus Hanse, m. at Albany, 1684. Note → N. B.—The regular mode of forming family names in the Low Countries or Netherlands (Holland and Belgium), as in Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Iceland was patronymic; that is, the Christian-name of the father was the basis of the last name of the son; so Remsen, the son of Rem(mert) Jansen; the ending—sen, the same as son, in English John-son, is varied*to -zen, and often shortened to -se; as in Jan-se=son of Jan (Eng. John); Dirck-se, son of Didrik or Dedrick; Teunis-se, son of Teunis (Antony); but this mode resulting in many duplicate names, there grew into use, as a temporary expedient for distinguishing between duplicate names, the affixing of the native place of each;

REPRESENTATIVE PIONEER SETTLERS OF NEW NETHERLAND AND THEIR ORIGINAL HOME PLACES.

CONTRIBUTED BY RICHARD SCHERMERHORN, JR.

The original thought leading to the writing of this article came about quite naturally. A tourist concern in England (Muirhead Guide Books, Ltd.) inquired of the historian, James Truslow Adams, if he would recommend sources in America from which they could secure information as to the original Holland homes of the early New Netherland settlers. This Company proposed to call attention to these home places in Holland, in their Guidebook, to attract the particular interest of American tourists (their new book contains this information). Mr. Adams, with whom the author has been acquainted for many years, communicated with the latter and asked if he would furnish this information. The author consented, little realizing the amount of work that was necessary.

It would be natural to assume that the passenger lists, which most genealogists know have been published, contain the most substantial information as to the home places of the Dutch emigrants. This is so to some extent, but on the other hand the names of the Dutch emigrants on these passenger lists do not conform with the names of their families a generation or two later, except in a comparatively few cases. The patronymic for a surname was used in most cases, the actual family name being adopted not earlier as a rule than the second or third generation in this country. Then they would usually adopt the name of the original home place or estate of the family rather than the place in which they lived immediately preceding their departure to America.

Another point which must be considered is that not all by any means of these original settlers who may be considered Dutch were actually Dutch. As we know, many (the Walloons) came from France, having settled temporarily in Holland before they came to America. The latter are not included on the lists appearing in this article as France was not to be considered in this particular work. It is further found that a great many of those who are assumed to be Dutch, actually came from what are now sections of Germany. The latter were principally the independent duchies or principalities of Oldenburg, Hanover, Rhine Province, Westphalia and Schleswig-Holstein. All of these were independent governments at the time of the Dutch emigration to America. This does not mean the emigrants from these places were not originally Dutch, as in the 16th Century many of the Dutch fled to these provinces during the Spanish persecutions. It is also true that in the second half of the 17th Century people from the Palatinate and the Rhine Province fled into the Netherlands to escape the French religious persecutions. Therefore in many cases the actual place of residence at any particular time could not positively determine the actual nationality of a family.

To go into a detailed study of all these different phases of families' migrations is a task in itself, but for all practical purposes it is still reasonable to judge that the original settlers of New Netherlands were mainly Dutch or of Dutch blood, and for general purposes it was practical to include in this research the provinces now part of Germany where many New Netherland Settlers resided at the time of their emigration. It might be added, however, that even the Walloons, having lived in Holland and having imbibed Dutch customs and traditions and in this country having intermarried consistently with the Dutch, became to all intents and purposes as Dutch as anything could make them. This applies also to such families as Livingston, Yates and others that grew up in the Dutch settlements.

The sources of information looked into for the compilation of this material were original records as far as time would permit (the material was desired at an early moment). The Dutch Church marriage records of New Amsterdam, Kingston and Bergen were first examined, these giving definite information regarding the continental homes of many early settlers. The standard works of Pearson, Bergen and Riker were also studied, these having covered many of the early public records, and the published public records of New York State relating to the early Dutch (these are voluminous) were also looked into as far as practical, to complement the former. The individually published family genealogies were also referred to, although with a measure of caution, as some of these cannot be classed as infallible. It is surprising how comparatively few Dutch genealogies there are. Other authorities are noted in the list appended and it is believed that they are mainly trustworthy, although it is quite possible that once in a great while an error in deduction might have crept in. Even such an authority as Pearson made a slip occasionally and unfortunately errors are to be found in nearly all genealogical works. Mr. A. J. F. van Laer, N. Y. State Archivist, has been particularly kind and helpful to the author in this work, and his knowledge of this subject is known to be unsurpassed.

The list is, of course, not complete. It was necessary to leave out many important families, because the location of their original homes could not be determined. Other families have been omitted because their names died out early and have no present day significance. A few families, however, whose names do not exist in America today, were included on account of their being well known in the early history of New Netherland. Some other families were perhaps neglected because while not having actually died out, their names are encountered so seldom as to be of little interest. A few perhaps also have been included which have no real significance, but the author could hardly be expected to be an authoritative judge of the noteworthy characteristics of each and every one of the pioneer families. He has simply done the best he could, and has endeavored to furnish a list of those families which have been representative of the best known of the pioneer stock.

History of The Garrison (Garrettson) Family - Page One

Jub

Gerret Cornelise (Cornellissen) Van Duyn was the common ancestor of the Garrison family in America.
Gerret married Jacomina (Jacomynthy) Jacobs Swarts, daughter of Jacob Swarts (AKA Hellaker). Apparently, they first came to New Amsterdam as a ship's carpenter for the Dutch East India Company where one or more of the children were born, and then returned to Holland. (Info - from internet sources.)

However, they emigrated from Nieuwkerk in Zeeland, Holland, to New Amsterdam in 1649. Apparently, Utrecht was his original home. He was born about 1600, and died 1699. His son Dirck, (born 1635) came to New Amsterdam on the ship "Love" in 1660.

Their Children :-

- 1/ Gerret Gerretse (Gerretse) → (this may be his grandson)?
- 2/ Danya (Dionys) Gerretse
- 3/ Willem Gerretse
- 4/ Aeltie Van Duyn - married 1/ Jan Thyssen 2/ Peter Cornell.
- 5/ Dirck Gerretse van Dien (born about 1635).
- 6/ Cornelia Gerretse - married Cornelis Bogaert.
- 7/ Abraham Gerretse
- 8/ Jacomynthy Gerretse - married George Andermy (Andersse) of New Amsterdam.

Note :- Dirck may have been born in New Amsterdam on his father's first trip. A child was given a Christian name first and his surname was his father's first name with a "sen" or "syne" or "se" added. The "Van" indicated the place in Holland where he came from. Many of the name Gerretse adopted the surname Blauvelt.

Notes: Andries Willemszen Hoppe/Hoppen is the progenitor of the HOPPER family. Andries was probably in New Netherland as early as 11 July 1651 when two deeds were witnessed by "Andries Hopffa" (his signature) and definitely by 10 Sept. 1651 when his daughter was baptized in New Amsterdam. It is not known when he arrived or from where he emigrated. There seems to be some evidence that the surname Hoppe (Hoppen) existed in Holland. However, we cannot be certain that he was Dutch, as George O. Zabriskie pointed out that their youngest child was named Matthys Adolphus and Adolphus is not a Dutch name, and in typical fashion the child would have born his father's patronymic Andriensen as his middle name. Andries always appears in records with his surname listed as Hoppe or Hoppen and not as many of the Dutch were simply as Andries Willemszen. In fact Willemszen is used only in one church record.

In 1653 or 1656, Andries had been granted the right of "small burgher" of New Amsterdam, which meant he was a citizen entitled to certain privileges, such as the right to trade, or operate a business or practice a profession. From the Court Minutes of New Amsterdam and the Minutes of the Orphanmasters, after his death, it is learned that he was a merchant, trader, and freighter. He died sometime after 25 March 1658 when he appeared in court, and 18 December 1658 when his wife appeared in the Orphanmasters Court. His widow married secondly, Dirck Gerritszen, whose descendants came to be known by the surname VAN DIEN. (OR GARRISON)

BAPTISMS OF 1661

This is the fifth in a series of files on the baptisms at the Reformed Dutch Church of New Amsterdam. The baptisms are laid out in order as follows: The date of the baptism; the parents; the child; and the witnesses. Note the separation of each item by semicolons. There is no spacing between baptisms and the wrap text is confined to 80 characters. Anything within parenthesis are my own comments.

re: Status of Jonas Garrison (born about 1735 in U.S.A) as an United Empire Loyalist.

On the Burleigh Papers at Queen's University Archives, Kingston, Ontario, is a box containing 21 files on United Empire Loyalists. They are categorically listed as:-

1/ Three or four of these files list names of U.E.L.'s in the Cataragui area. (Townships One to Five). They do not list Jonas Garrison. He is not listed on the Supplementary lists either.

2/ One file is titled "List of Loyalists Whose Children Did Not Receive Land Grants". The name "Garrison" is on this list.

Note! Marwilland Elias Garrison, sons of Jonas, received land grants in Ontario due to their service in the war of 1812-14. Mary Garrison (nee Roblin) wife of Marwill, and Cleanor Garrison (nee Loyst) received land grants as D.U.E. (Daughter of U.E.L.'s). Gideon Garrison's land grant was a lease. (He was a son of Elias Garrison).

3/ One file has a partial list of U.E.L.'s. The name Garrison is on this list, and then scratched off.

4/ One file has a list of U.E.L.'s under "Names of Families". Beside most of the family names are "P.L.B.A." Garrison is on this list. "P.L.B.A." refers to the book "Pioneer Life on the Bay of Quinte (by Mika).

Note! - The McDowell Church Records show Amy Garrison (daughter of Jonas Garrison) married to James Huff in Fredericksburg in 1796. This is the earliest record of date of Jonas Garrison in Upper Canada. (He may have arrived "as a settler" in early 1790's. His name is not on the "Quebec Plan" for Fredericksburg in the Haldimand Papers either. Historians say about 6000 names out of of approximately 60,000 were taken off the U.E.L. list eventually, of these 6,000 names scratched off, about 600 were in the Cataragui (Townships One to Five) area. → Research by John Z. Smith in 1998.

Note! - The Twist Census of the United States taken in New York in 1790 list Jonas Garrison at New Cornwall Town, Orange County. He came to Upper Canada in the early 1790's. His daughter Amy married James Huff in 1796. On his father's will on 3/June/1794.

(b1768) Marvil Garrison, son of Jonas and grandson of Marvil, came to Fredericksburg in the early 1790's. Jonas was registered on the first Census of the United States in New York in 1790, living at New Cornwall Town (Township) in Orange County, New York.

Marvil grew up to be known as the "Pioneer" and became a great farmer, cultivating over 500 acres in his lifetime, leaving his sons each a farm. Apparently, Marvil fought in the War of 1812-14, and received some land grants.

Marvil worked as a contractor on the building of the Pideau Canal, saving up a substantial amount of money. He married Mary Roblin. The Roblin family was connected to the Van Dusen family. Conrad Van Dusen owned a tavern at Adolphustown. Marvil may have taken this over.

He also was connected with flour and saw<sup>mills</sup> in the area and on Prime Edward County, probably at Roblin's Mills. Marvil died in 1857 at the age of Eighty-four. Mary died in 1849. They are buried on the south shore of Hay Bay, Ont. (now the farm of Harvey Benn), where their tombstones stand in a little cemetery on the top of a knoll.

Note! - Jonas Garrison, Marvil's father died 1808-10?

Note 1 - The Booklet "The Mills of Mifford (1800-1902) do not mention Marvil Garrison. They were ~~built~~ <sup>were belonging</sup> to the Joseph Clapp family farmer of that time. However, Marvil Garrison and Benjamin Clapp (who homesteaded in Adolphustown) both married sisters, Mary and Elizabeth Roblin. Joseph Clapp spent the first winter of his arrival at Adolphustown with the family of Benjamin Clapp.

LOTS A.A. and B.B. - re Garrison

GORE LAND BETWEEN SECOND AND THIRD CONCESSIONS

Due to the irregular contour of the shoreline on the south side of Hay Bay, the Lots numbered 6 to the east part of 13, Additional, extended farther to the north than Lots east and west of that area. Consequently a considerable area of Gore land was created between the second and third concessions. The central part of this gore area from the east boundary of Lot 7 to the west boundary of Lot 11 was designated Lot A.A., the most westerly portion, and Lot B.B., the east part. It seems that the A.A. and B.B. names were because this was an irregular block of land in the survey, and part of the area was swampy. The marshy, broken front area at the east end of Hay Bay was called Lot C.C..

I am dealing with A.A. and B.B. separately for the earlier years, but later after both properties became integrated under the ownership of one family, it will be considered as sections of one block.

The original Grants from the Crown were to George Brooks, 138 acres of the West Part of Lot A.A. on December 8, 1806; and on the same date, the East Part of A.A. to Nicholas Peterson, an unspecified acreage. Nicholas Peterson evidently enjoyed special status with the British authorities, for he was also granted the adjoining West Part of B.B., also the large Lot 14, Concession 3, Additional, also part of Lot 13, and all 200 acres of Lot 10, Additional.

The East Part of Block B.B., 100 acres, had been granted on December 8, 1806, from the Crown to Marvel Garrison. Marvel Garrison was evidently a capable, ambitious man. In 1827 he purchased from William Garrison the East Half of Lot 11, Concession 3, and probably about the same date he acquired the West Half of Lot 11. The report is that Marvel was a going concern in his time, with good horses and good cattle. I was told by Harold Garrison, a descendant, that Marvel Garrison built the large low house on the hill above the bay shore on Lot 11, close to the No. 11 road, to operate as an Inn. Harold also told me that Marvel Garrison worked on the construction of the Rideau Canal.

Marvel Garrison (1768-1860) married Mary Roblin (1777-1853). Their children:

1- John Garrison - M. Betsy Loist (Loyst) and settled in Richmond Township. Their children were William, Peter and Elizabeth.

2 - Betsy, or Elizabeth - M. 1st William Kennedy

2nd Frank Vandewater, settled in Frontenac County

A son, Marvel Kennedy died April 12, 1841, at 11 years of age, and was buried in the Garrison Cemetery on Lot 11.

3 - Philip Garrison - (1800-1884) - M. Elenor Loyst - (1794-1860). Their children were Martin, Mary, Margaret and Philip. Elenor and Betsy, (Mrs John Garrison) were daughters of Heinrich and Annatje Loyst, of Lot 7.

(Received from Harold Garrison in March 2001) - Harold has in his possession at home in the Hay Bay (Perma) area, an old flintlock rifle given to Marvill Garrison b (1773) by the British Army during the War of 1812/14. It has the British Crown insignia stamped on it. Jeff.

4 - Jonas Garrison - (1806-1871) - M. Christine Schumann - settled Lennox Co.

5 - Garret A. Garrison - (1807-1875) - M. Lydia Ostrander - settled, Athol, P.E.Co.

6 - Reuben Garrison - M. , settled California.

7 - Marvel Jr. (c1820) As well as the above children, copied from a family genealogy chart, there was another son, Marvel Jr. born about 1820 who married Nancy H. Graham, listed in the 1851-52 Census as 24 years of age, and born in the U.S.A.. At that date they had a son Philip R., 5; and daughters Sophia M., 3 and Nancy M., 1. Nancy, Mrs. Marvel Jr., died in 1860 at age 33, and I found no record of the family of Marvel Jr. locally after that 1851 Census date.

In 1827 Marvel Garrison Sr. bought the East Half of Lot 11, Additional, and shortly thereafter he also acquired the West Half of Lot 11. According to notations in the Registry Office, in 1834 Marvel Sr. sold 100 acres of Lot B.B. to his son Philip, and another 100 acres to another son, Garret A. Garrison. However, Marvel Sr. owned only 100 acres of Lot B.B. so 47 acres of the land to each son was part of the south end of Lot 8, Additional, Concession 3, sale of which is recorded on Lot 8. In that same year, G. A. Garrison sold 27 1/2 acres to Andrew Diamond. I found no records to show the sale of G.A. Garrison's other property, but evidently it was within the Garrison families. Garret A. Garrison married Lydia Ostrander and moved to Athol Township in Prince Edward County. The eldest son, John, had moved to Richmond Township and Jonas had also moved to another place in Lennox and Addington County. Reuben married and moved to California.

In 1858 Marvel Sr. sold the West Half of Lot 11 to Marvel Jr. and from the estate of Marvel Sr., in 1860, the East Half of Lot 11 also went to Marvel Jr.. However Marvel Jr. lost his wife in 1860, and in 1872 he sold all of Lot 11 to Alex Glass. I have no knowledge regarding Marvel Jr. or his family after that date.

Philip Garrison (1800- 1884) married Elenor Loyst (1794- 1866). Their children were Martin, (c 1831) Mary, Margaret and Philip Jr. (c1840). Records of the Loyst Cemetery show that Elenor died Feb. 2, 1860 at 66 years of age, and that their daughter, Mary, died Mar. 17, 1860 at 27 years, and was also buried there. A John C. Garrison who died Sept.19,1859 at 63 years, and Elizabeth Garrison, who died Jan. 30, 1868 at 71 years, (Loyst Cemetery), were probably brother and sister of Philip Sr..

Despite the tragedy of losing both his wife and daughter, Philip Garrison continued to add to his property. Of the original grantees of Lot A.A., in 1834 Abram Brooks gave a quit-claim to George Brooks, then in 1840 George Brooks sold his 138 acres, the most westerly section of Lot A.A. to Jacob Ruttan. Financial and ownership problems apparently developed, but in 1867 G.T. Pruyne, Sheriff, gave a deed to Mary A. Ruttan, but also in that same year John C. Lloyd deeded that 138 acres to Philip Garrison. The T.L. Company and G. Balfour gave releases to Philip Garrison in 1869 and 1870. In 1835 Nicholas Peterson sold his east part of A.A. and the west part of B.B. to Edward Hickey. Then in 1865 Edward Hickey sold both parcels to Philip Garrison. Marvel and Philip Garrison also bought sections of the south ends of the Concession 3, Additional, Lots Numbers 7, 8, and 9. The listing of land transfers in the narrative about Lot 8, Additional, shows the Garrison within family transfers there, which were connected to transfers of adjoining sections of their main lands, Lots A.A. and B.B..

By 1874 Philip was transferring property to his sons Martin and Philip Jr., and also, perhaps to his grandsons, Martin's family. The fact of two Philips makes it difficult to discern from the Land Registry Office records exactly what occurred. I was told that Philip Jr. did not marry. He was the owner of the west 138 acres of A.A., which he apparently sold to his nephew Jonas in 1881, retaining a life estate, although Jonas was only about 16 or 17 years old at that date. A notation in the Registry Office indicates that in 1878 Philip Garrison Sr. transferred 100 acres, described as east half, to Martin L. Garrison. Martin Loyst Garrison married Esther Marie Sharp, (c 1843). Their children were:

- 1 - Jonas - 1865
- 2 - Gilbert - 1866
- 3 - Mary - c 1870 - M. Dr. Ephraim Wagar, moved to South Dakota
- 4 - Martin - c1871
- 5 - Reuben - c1875
- 6 - Hester - M. Martin Benn
- 7 - Henry - c1882 - M. Arlena Embury

The division of ownership in the earlier part of the 20 th century, as I understood it, was that Jonas Garrison had the most westerly section of A.A., Gilbert Garrison had the next block, Henry Garrison had the third block, probably the west part of B.B., and Martin, Jr. or, later, Reuben, had the most easterly section, on which was the brick house which had been the headquarters for Marvel, Sr. and Philip for their large operation in earlier years. Reuben married and moved to California, but returned later in life, and had dealings with his brother Martin over the eastern section of Lot B.B..

Home of Jonas Garrison and Two Succeeding Generations

Jonas Garrison, born 1865, married Elizabeth M. (Lily) Clute, (1870- ----) a daughter of David A. Clute, of the old Clute homestead at Sandhurst. David was a son of Col. Clute, and a grandson of Col. Thompson, and a nephew of Sir John Johnston. Their family was; Ray Clute Garrison who married Maybelle Blakely; Myrtle, who married Robert Butler; Ethel, who married George Campbell, and is now age 97; Greta, who married James Powell; and Bessie who died as a young adult, in 1926.

Jonas Garrison was a prominent citizen of South Fredericksburgh. He was a member of the Council for several years, and served as Reeve of the Township. At the time of the inauguration of the Township Area School Board, in 1940, Jonas was one of the original members of the five man Board, an indication of his interest and public spirit, for he was well into his seventies at that date. Jonas Garrison had served as secretary-treasurer of the Parma School Section continuously from 1915 until 1940. Ray Garrison and Maybelle lived in the same house with his parents, carried on the farm, and also Ray, and sometimes Maybelle, drove the Sillsville R.R.1 mail route for very many years. That route was from the Post Office in Sillsville along the Hay Bay South Shore road to the western boundary of South Fredericksburgh, and maybe a bit further, into Adolphustown, then through the Gore road. That meant traveling every weekday in all kinds of weather and road conditions, and I think the times they were unable to get through the route were very few. Ray Garrison also owned a Rumely Oil Pull tractor and a grain threshing machine, with which he did custom threshing in the Parma, Hayburn and Sillsville areas for many years.

Ray and Maybelle's children were Reg. and Bessie. Bessie married -----, lived at -----and had a family of four girls. Reg. married Mary (Mickey) Rombough, and had a family of four boys. Dan married Pat-----, and lives in the farmhouse on the East Half of Lot 12, Additional; Rick married----- Babcock and built a house on the west section of Lot A.A., his great-grandfather's farm, Larry married -----Shelley and lives in a new house a bit farther east and Rob married -----Card, and lives in Kingston.

Gilbert Garrison, born 1866, married Mary Jane Rikely, a daughter of William Henry Rikely of Lot 1, Concession 3. They had two sons, Hugh J. and Harry M., but unfortunately they were somewhat handicapped, and both died as young men. I have been told that they were buried in the Rikely Cemetery on Lot 1 Concession 2, at Hayburn. Gilbert passed away in 1942, and Mrs. Mary Jane Garrison in 1949. That farm, the east part of Lot A.A., was bought by Gilbert's brother, Henry A. Garrison.

Henry Alexander Garrison married Arlena Embury. Their children were:

- 1 - Madeline Mary - 1907 - M - Charles Reid
- 2 - Durward Allen - 1909 - M - Mildred Gordon
- 3 - Howard Alexander - 1912 - M - Leone Loyst
- 4 - Elenor Esther - 1916 - M - Thomas Kirby
- 5 - Guy - 1918 - Died very young
- 6 - Harold Martin - 1929 - M. - Wilma Joan Pettifer - died 1992

Henry Garrison's portion of his father's, or his grandfather's, large block of land was the west part of Lot B.B. and parts of the south ends of Lots 8 or 9 Additional of Concession 3, which Marvel and Philip Garrison had bought many years earlier. The farms of Gilbert Garrison and of Martin Garrison Jr. also included parts of the south ends of Concession 3 lots. Henry Garrison's property was transferred to his son Durward, and a few years later Durward, who had no children, transferred it to his nephew, Morley Garrison, a son of Howard and his wife Leone (Loyst), who had purchased the West Half of Lot 3, Additional, and part of Lot 4, as told in the account of those Lots.

Henry Garrison's youngest son, Harold, purchased part of Lot 4 Concession 2, at Parma, a short distance south-east of Lot B.B., which previously had been the Morley White farm. Harold married Wilma Joan Pettifer, and their children were:

- Paul Richard - 1951
- Michelle Louise - M. - -----Colton
- Alena Christine - M - -----Heal
- Valerie Adell - M - -----Kimmet

Wilma was a capable, talented woman who was very active in the community, but unfortunately her health failed and she passed away in 1992. Harold operated a dairy farm, then later changed to a beef herd. Harold spent several years as part of the Lennox and Addington County Sheriff's department. Paul was very involved with horses and rode in many rodeos in the western States. He suffered injuries several times, but went back to competition. Finally, after being seriously injured, he gave up the rodeos, but is very involved locally in activities related to horses. For the past several years he has organized large auction sales of high quality horses each June. Until the last two or three years those sales were staged on his father's farm.

The most easterly section, where was the brick house which had been the headquarters for Marvel and Philip Garrison Sr., became the property of Martin Jr.. I think he had no family. In later years his brother Reuben returned from the western States and purchased that 62 acre section. Upon Reuben's death it was bequeathed to Lewis C. Garrison and his wife Norma, in 1953. In 1956 Norma Garrison sold to James and Greta Powell. Greta was a daughter of Jonas Garrison, so the property still continued on in the ownership of a member of the Garrison family.

Jim Powell was born at Clapham Junction, London, England, on November

9,1891, and came to Canada in 1911. He worked for a year on the Tom Russell farm west of Selby, then came to work for Les Dafoe at Hay Bay. While there he drew milk for Les to the Sillsville cheese factory. On the weekends they drew milk on Saturday night, as they did not work on Sundays. Jim married Greta Garrison, daughter of Jonas Garrison on October 27,1915. He then worked for Jonas Garrison for a few years, also worked in the Selby area for a few years. In 1928 he purchased the Martin Benn farm, formerly the Pringle farm, 110 acres, made up of some Gore land east of Lot B.B. and minor adjoining sections of Lots 6-7-8 Additional. Jim again drew milk, this time to the U.E.L. cheese factory at Dorland, with his team of horses and wagon taking as much as two tons at a load for a number of years, as well as farming, which he kept at until a few years before his death in 1979.

( Lily Clute )

Greta Garrison (Powell)

Merton Powell

baby Norma Powell

There were three children, Merton, Burkett and Ross. Merton passed away in 1971. He had been married to Ella McDonald and later to Doris Campbell. Burkett married Roy Lees, and they live nearby on Lot 2, Additional, Concession 2. On June 14, 1952 Ross married Margaret Shelley, whose family came from England in 1948. Ross and Margaret have two daughters, Joan and Cynthia. Joan married Bradford Reynolds and had six children; Tina, Timothy, Thomas, Trevor, Tyler and Tanya. Tina Reynolds married Donald Lewis and they have two sons, Brandon and Cody. Timothy married Mary Ann Lewis and is living in Kingston. Cynthia Powell married Brian Wayte and their three children are Chase, Blaine and Brianne.

Ross and Margaret purchased a Lot from Evan Brooks about 1962 on Lot 2 Additional, Concession 2, and built a house which they sold to Robert and Kathy Tucker in 1972. They had purchased 18 acres from Harvey Benn, also on Lot 2, Additional, and in 1972 built a new home there where they presently live. Ross worked at many different jobs, including body work on cars, drawing milk, and carpentry, and before his retirement in 1990, due to injuring his hand in an accident at work, he had worked for 13 years at the Lennox and Addington County Museum. He now keeps busy with woodworking and caning chairs etc.. Margaret sews, knits and crochets.

Jim and Greta's house and Lot was purchased by Jim Lees, a grandson, in 1976, and the previous house was taken down in 1977. A new home was built on the Lot, which was owned by Jim and Glenna Lees, then Donald Reynolds Jr. and now by John and Janice Pietrangeli. In 1964 Jim and Greta Powell transferred the western part of their farm on the north side of the Gore road, which includes the original Garrison homestead, part of Lot B.B., purchased by Jim Powell in 1956, to their son, Merton. A new home there is now occupied by B. and J. Powell. In 1965 the eastern 68 1/2 acres was sold to Maurice and Monica Powell, a grandson of Jim and Greta. They lived in the grandparents home for some time, then built a new home farther to the east, where they now live.

In 1964 James and Greta Powell sold a lot to Norma Anne Myrtle Webb, which was later owned by Jean and Henry J. Clarke, and then by Florence MacDonald. The land on the south side of the road was sold to Richard Babcock.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. J. ~~Charles~~ CHALLIS

On Wednesday, 18th inst., death claimed one of Gardington's residents in the person of Mrs. Challis, relict of the late James Challis. She died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Rutlan, Desmond, where she had been residing for the past few months.

WIFE

STANLEY RUTLAN SARAH CHALLIS

Her maiden name was Dawson, and she was born at Ernestown, in the year 1824, and had thus reached the ripe old age of eighty-seven on her last birthday. She was married to James Challis in 1843, and moved to this neighborhood, where she lived ever since. She had a family of three sons and eight daughters, and all but three survive her.

CATHERINE

NOTE: THE GIVEN NAME CATHERINE WAS ON HER DAUGHTERS DEATH CERTIFICATE OF WHICH I HAVE A COPY

The sons are James, of Fulton, N. Y.; John, of Oak Flats; and Edward, living on the homestead. The daughters, Mrs. Jeffrey, of Reynoldstown; Mrs. Garrison, Petworth; Mrs. Rutlan, Desmond; Mrs. Connors, Murvale; Mrs. Hicks, Wagarville. Three daughters, Mrs. McMahon, Mrs. McLroy and Mrs. Scales, pre-deceased their mother, the two latter by only a few months. The deceased was well known and respected, and retaining her strength and vigor almost to the last, was able to mingle with her friends until a very short time ago. She was an affectionate mother, and a thrifty and faithful helpmate. On her mother's side Mrs. Challis was a relative of the late Sir John A. Macdonald.

Dear Manford:-

Marshall Cousins intends cutting 12 loads of wood (Sleigh lengths) and I will ask that you kindly allow us to pile same on your place, near the cement tank, until I can get Alvie Huffman to cut it up.

Mrs Frank Wartman (Luella Garrison) wrote me recently from Vancouver, where she resides with her daughter Hattie, for information respecting the Garrison Family.

It seems the daughter (Mrs. Proverbs) made application to join the United Empire Loyalists Club in Vancouver and the application was held up until she was able to produce the proof she had descended from this NOBLE AND DISTINGUISHED CLAN., and so I was able to furnish the information and am inclosing herewith a copy for you. I might also add that that I mailed a copy to Mr. James Garrison of Yarker, who was good enough to give me the names of the Sisters of your Grandfather.

Cordially yours.

THE CASITE INDUSTRY AT COLEBROOK

Editor's Note - This story is included in "Camden Township History" by courtesy of Nelson Garrison of Garrison Electric of Kingston. Mr. Garrison is a native of Colebrook.

Everett Durward Shangraw was a son of George Shangraw who operated a General Store and Post Office at Colebrook. (The other son, Wilmot, operated the same business until his death.) Everett attended Colebrook Public School and upon graduation continued through the Newburgh Academy to become a public school teacher. He married Effie May Garrison and settled in Colebrook. He taught school at Brookside and Erinsville.

Effie May Garrison was a daughter of Cyrus Garrison
Compliments of SELRITE 5¢ TO $1.00 STORE, Napanee, Ontario.

During his summer vacation he was employed at the Portland Cement Plant at Marlbank, Ontario, and after he gave up teaching, he continued this work, being a senior executive at this plant at the time it burned.

The Portland Cement Company asked Mr. Shangraw to remain with the company, and as a result, he moved to Des Moines, Iowa, St. Louis, Missouri, and Birmingham, Alabama, at the last appointment in the capacity of purchasing agent. The chief engineer at this plant asked him to purchase some Casite Penetrating Oil, as it was an ideal rust solvent. Upon investigation the product was located, being manufactured by J.R. Case in an abandoned church in Jonesborough, Arkansas. A supply was purchased and it proved so very satisfactory, that upon his return home to Colebrook, he brought several cartons of Casite with him.

After spending a few years with F.J. Garrison in the well-drilling business, he again became interested in Casite and formed the E.D. Shangraw Co. He sold his supply by mail order and purchased a larger supply which was sold upon arrival, and soon the product was purchased in 45 gallon drums, then packed in smaller containers and shipped to factories, mines, shipbuilders, pulp and paper mills, etc., all over the Dominion of Canada. Business continued this way until the financial disaster in the U.S.A.

In 1930, Mr. Shangraw was able to purchase the formula for Casite, with sole marketing rights in the Dominion of Canada and jointly in the British Empire.

Raw materials were shipped to Colebrook from Montreal, Toronto and Kingston, tin cans from Toronto, chemicals from Germany, and the entire operation was completed in Colebrook for shipment from Yarker station.

In 1935, the company was changed to Casite Products Company, with Mr. Shangraw as the owner, and about the same time, it was discovered that Casite would do wonders for a motor car if added to the motor oil, or placed in the carburetor. After some adjustments to the formula the Colebrook plant sold much more Casite to the automotive industry than they had ever anticipated.

Mr. Shangraw died in 1944, and as a result, the business was sold to Hastings Limited in Toronto, who operated the plant under the supervision of Nelson Garrison for about four years. The capacity of the plant reached about 30 tons per month, with 5 employees. In 1948, Hastings Limited built a new plant and the operation was moved to Toronto, where Casite is manufactured at this time.

A WISH

Give me a steep green hill to climb	Birdsong and surf and golden sun,
And a sea wind blowing,	The drift of laughter;
Clouds like white pennants strung afar,	Friendship and love to warm my heart
A time for knowing	Forever after!

"TALE OF A DESERTED VILLAGE" - Written by

Joseph Foster - June 1946

"Masters I am to discourse wonders; but ask me not what; for if I tell you, I am no true Athenian, I will tell you everything, right as it fell out"

(Shakespeare: "MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM")

Few people living to-day can visualize the tremendous activity that prevailed throughout the length of the Napanee River, which empties into the Bay of Quinte and drains a water-shed comprising many square miles of territory, during the lumbering days, when our white pine forest reserves were in many instances ruthlessly ravished by the timber barons and floated down the River to the markets of the world.

The lumber industry got under way in 1850, and for a period of twenty-five years was carried on in vigorous fashion by three or four Lumber Companies.

At every point along the course of the Napanee River where falling water could be harnessed to turn the wheels of industry, thriving towns and villages sprang into being and continued to prosper for a number of years. Saw mills, grist mills, carding mills, woollen mills, distilleries, and tanneries were erected, many of them of stone and substantial structures. There was no unemployment or labour strikes in those days. Millers, store-keepers, shoe-makers, wagon-makers, blacksmiths, and even tavern-keepers were never idle. Then one day something happened: the timber barons had completed their job, our forest reserves of white pine were completely exhausted, the last drive of timber had passed down the River, and the people wondered what would happen next.

A DESERTED VILLAGE

A brief history of the village of Petworth (which at this time can best be described as a deserted village) with only six families left, furnishes a striking example of what can happen to a community when its major industry collapses or goes into liquidation. The Village of Petworth is advantageously located in the centre of a prosperous farming community, in the Township of Portland, at a point where the Napanee River leaves the County of Frontenac and enters the County of Lennox and Addington, and has one of the best Hydro Electric Power sites on the River.

Note! Clas Garrison, of Petworth and his friend, Mike Williams, were log drivers on the Napanee River. The activity ceased in 1905.

The first Saw Mill at Petworth was built by the writer's grandfather in 1840, and the lumber cut at this primitive mill can be found to-day in many of the buildings still standing at Moscow. In 1850 John Stevenson purchased the Foster holdings and made extensive alterations, and later George Lott, father of the late William Lott of Napanee, came in as a partner, and the business was known for many years as "The Stevenson and Lott Lumber Company". Alfred Knight, a brother-in-law of George Lott, who had taught school in his younger days and was known for his beautiful penmanship, came in as a silent partner and remained a member throughout its existence. The members of this organization were energetic men, possessing a keen business acumen which enabled them to extend their enterprise to a point where approximately one hundred employees were on the pay-roll. The Saw Mill was rebuilt and a carding mill and woollen mill added. A new three storey stone grist mill was erected where high grade flour was manufactured for export.

LARGE HOLDINGS

Stevenson and Lott also had extensive lands in the Township of Portland, at Rock Lake, Long Lake and Thirteen Island Lake, which furnished the resources for their lumber business. The supply of logs and timber floated down the river from these limits were ample to keep their mills operating to capacity, and any surplus timber was taken down the river to Mill Point (Deseronto) where it was placed into rafts and floated down the St. Lawrence River to the markets of Montreal and Quebec City. The lumber cut at the Petworth Mill was sold locally and to the Kingston and Napanee markets, and delivered by the Company's own staff. This Company also owned and operated a four hundred acre farm, which produced the hay and oats required to feed the horses used in this extensive business. Lafayette Lott, a brother of George Lott, had charge of the farm and of the transportation activities of the Company. The Stevenson and Lott Company also carried on an extensive mercantile business and enjoyed a large trade from the surrounding community. As an evidence of the standing and importance of this Petworth enterprise, the Montreal Telegraph Company, at the request of Stevenson and Lott, built a special line from the City of Kingston to Petworth, being the first telegraph line projected north from that City.

Most of the men employed by the Stevenson and Lott Lumber Company were expert lumbermen, shantymen, and river-drivers, and when the season's cut of lumber was completed at the mills and neatly piled in the lumber yard in straight rows resembling the streets of a town, part of the staff would repair to the timber limits to plan and lay out the work for the coming winter. In this party would be one or more expert wood-rangers, familiar with all the details of lumbering, and decide on the location where the winter's work would begin, and lay out and designate suitable roads which would lead from the works to the lake or stream on which the logs and timber would be dumped, in readiness for the spring drive. They would also mark and set stakes on the exact spot where the many roll-ways or skid-ways would be located. Another party would be detailed to work on what was described as "THE REPAIRS" - this had to do with the repairing of the several dams, built to conserve the water supply during the spring drive, and thus facilitate the floating of logs and timber through and over the shallow reaches of the river.

On the completion of this work and around the latter part of September, the business of cutting the logs and timber would begin and continue without abatement throughout the winter months.

On the appearance of the first snow and when the lakes were frozen over, the teamsters, with their well-groomed horses and shanty sleighs, would move in, together with the loaders to man the skid-ways.

The Shantymen would be comfortably housed in the lumber camp, with two tiers of bunks arranged on three sides of the enclosure, and heated with a large box stove in the centre. The cook-shanty was generally an extension of the main building.

The day's operations would begin at precisely 4 o'clock, when the Cook would arouse the camp with the announcement that Breakfast was ready. The first to respond to this summons were the teamsters, who would hurry to the stables to feed and harness their horses. Breakfast over, the entire camp, with the exception of the cook, the cook's assistant, and the saw-filer, would desert the camp fires for the lumber woods. It is still dark and the stars are shining. The skid-ways are lighted with lanterns suitably placed or else with torches made of fat pine knots. The teamsters, with their horses and wide-bunked shanty sleighs are already at the skid-ways, and the expert loaders are at work. The choppers and sawyers have also moved in and the whole program is being carried out according to schedule.

THE DESERTED VILLAGE

The season's cut of logs would be moved to the lake or stream and unloaded on the ice. The oak timber would be squared with the broad-axe and delivered to the mill with horses and sleighs, for the reason that green oak could not be induced to float on the water.

THE SPRING DRIVE

Generally about the middle of April this same staff would return to the scene of their winter labours, not as Shantymen, but as River drivers, completely fitted out with all the accessories incident to this particular calling: pike poles, Peevies, boom chains, axes and augers, ship anchors, and last but not least, a "Mull-net". The Riverman's personal outfit consisted of a felt hat with a reasonably broad brim, a pair of specially made leather boots with long legs and soles sufficiently thick to support the iron corks necessary to prevent slipping off a wet log when floating on the water. The distinguishing Badge of a River Driver was a red sash, four inches wide, with long fringe at the ends, fastened around the waist and securely knotted on the left side.

A HAZARDOUS OCCUPATION

The exclamation - head wind at Davey's Hole - was frequently heard on the Napanee River during the River Driving Days of long ago. "Davey's Hole" was a peculiarly formed inlet or bay, found near the entrance of the third depot lake, geographically located in such a strange setting that no matter which way the weather-vane pointed, it was always head wind at Davey's Hole. Because of this strange phenomenon, Rivermen were always thankful if they got safely past this obstruction without trouble. It frequently happened, however, that the drive would be held up for days at this point by adverse winds, and finally the only way of getting the logs past would be by the warping method, as follows: a boom of the proper length would be placed around the stranded logs and the Mull-net brought into action. This device consisted of a large platform, made of square pine timber, fastened close together so as to form a floating dry-dock. At the centre of this platform was placed a verticle capstan or drum, securely supported at both upper and lower ends and made to turn easily. The capstan had square holes morticed into the timber, toward the top, to receive the hand lever used to turn the device.

THE DESERTED VILLAGE

A large two inch rope would be payed out from the Mull-net and carried by boat to the boom of logs, often more than a half mile distant. The Mull-net was then placed in position and held fast a two hundred pound ship anchor. Strong hands would then man the capstan, when the winding up process would begin and slowly move the boom of logs across the lake. Three or four turns of the rope around the capstan was sufficient to hold it fast, and during the operation the loose end would be neatly coiled up on the floor of the Mull-net. When the boom of logs reached the proper location, the Rivermen with their pike-poles would separate the mass and start it on its downward course toward the saw mill.

During these hold-ups from adverse winds, the men would lay in camp, often for days, and during this period would while away the time with music of the fiddle, shanty songs and story telling. The foreman of the job was on duty night and day, checking the wind, and the moment a change was observed, that moment, whether night or day, Sunday or week-day, the whole camp would turn out and the works would start again in real earnest.

River-driving was always considered a hazardous occupation, the unseen danger that always lurks about whirlpools and foaming rapids which may whisk you off your feet before you know where you are, is ever present, and breaking a jam that has formed near the crest of a rapids, on a turbulent section of a river, is no child's play, but the seasoned veteran of many drives of logs is ready when the jam breaks under the mighty pressure of rising waters to quickly spring clear of the heaving and tumbling mass of timber to safety.
